1. CALL TO ORDER/ ESTABLISH QUORUM

Chairperson April Lopez called the meeting to order at 3:20 pm. A quorum was established.

2. WELCOME/INTRODUCTIONS

Everyone present introduced themselves.

3. PUBLIC COMMENT

There was no public comment.

4. APPROVAL OF AUGUST 24, 2015 MINUTES

It was moved/seconded (Smith (FA)/Forderer (SA) and carried to approve the August 24, 2015 Membership Committee minutes. Executive Director Aaron Carruthers noted the inclusion, under section 9 Review Council Candidates, of information of demographic information on the candidates reviewed at the meeting.

5. REVIEW COUNCIL MEMBERS TERMS FOR APPOINTMENT

Executive Director Aaron Carruthers reviewed the Detail Sheet and noted the second terms of Council members April Lopez and Keica Weller expire on 1-1-16, and that, per statute, members may continue to serve until the Governor appoints a successor. Director Carruthers also noted that the first terms of Council members Robert Taylor, Charles Horne-Nutt, and Sandra Smith expire on 1-1-16.

The Committee discussed the Council members whose first terms expire on 1-1-16 and made recommendations to the Governor's Office regarding re-appointment.

6. DEMOGRAPHIC MAP

The Committee did not review the Demographic Map and proceeded to its Review of Candidates.

7. REVIEW COUNCIL CANDIDATES

The Committee interviewed five candidates, application code number 077, 044, 064, 066, and 028, and referred two (044 and 064) to the Governor's Office for At Large and Orange County Region vacancies.

Of the five applicants interviewed, 2 were Hispanic; 2, Asian; and 1, White.

8. REVIEW REGIONAL ADVISORY COMMITTEE APPOINTMENT PROCESS

Executive Director Aaron Carruthers reviewed the Detail Sheet and the Committee addressed the process for appointments to regional advisory committees (RACs).

The Committee agreed on a process for obtaining recommendations from RO's and RAC's: Headquarters processes applications and forwards them to the appropriate regional office for review by the RAC or the RAC's Membership Committee. The RO manager submits the recommendations from the RAC or the RAC's Membership Committee to HQ for consideration by the Council's Membership Committee.

9. ADJOURNMENT/NEXT MEETING DATE

The meeting was adjourned at 5:10 pm. The Committee did not set a date for the next meeting.

Eligible for vacant council seat: - At Large 1

I am a: parent, family member, legal guardian or conservator of a person with a developmental disability

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the mother of 3 children. My youngest daughter, Kelsey, has developmental disabilities. Kelsey was diagnosed at birth with Dandy- Walker Syndrome, cerebral palsy, hydrocephalus, seizures and developmental delay.

Kelsey and I have worked hard to help her achieve goals, milestones, appropriate education, leisure activities, medical services and therapies. I have watched her blossom and grow and it has inspired me to help make a difference to others with developmental disabilities.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am particularly interested in helping individuals with disabilities enrolled in special education and people with disabilities that are medically fragile.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

My daughter is non-verbal. I know that if she could talk, she would be the one serving on the Area Boards, sub committees and State Council. I feel I am her voice. I was appointed by Governor Brown to the former Area Board 13, now State Council on Developmental Disabilities- San Diego, Imperial Office in 2012. I love every minute of the time I have spent on Area Board 13.

I am participating in a sub committee to do community outreach for early identification of infants and toddlers with developmental disabilities because we know that early intervention can have a positive outcome for children with disabilities.

I believe serving on the State Council would be the natural next step to continue to serve and advocate for individuals in the community with disabilities.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My biggest strength is my passion for helping and serving the developmentally disabled community. I also have strengths, experience and skills in public speaking, a deep understanding of IDEA, special education law, mediation and a huge commitment to individuals that are disabled.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I work with a young man in vision Therapy that attended the conference last year in Sacramento. When he returned he shared his experience with me and we have continued our conversation though out the year. He had inspired me.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interest is to assist in developing programs that will support those with a developmental disability to have their maximum quality of life.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I work with developmental Disabilities. It is an underserved population that I would like to serve, with a vision of assisting in services systems that bring their development to their full protincel out.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My strengths are in communication with each group Developmentally disabled person, Parents and other group.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

It comes naturally. I was born into it, I have cerebral palsy. Through challenges of my own and of others who I have met, I realized that more could and should be done to simplify the systems upon which we rely.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

First and foremost, transportation and travel. Also, accessibility of public spaces and places, including hotels and housing.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to share my experience and knowledge regarding the challenges that face so many citizens in so many areas. The public transportation available to us is dismal. If I could help improve this one area, I would be very grateful.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have 21 years of experience in the travel and transportation business as owner of my own travel agency. I have excellent communication skills. I have knowledge of the practices and accommodations for people facing challenges in 25 countries and more than half of these United States. I know that California could be doing so much better.

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?"

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My interest developed because I have always felt strongly about advocating for myself as well as others. I have become a better advocate by all the information I have learn by being on this committee. I have been able to share these resources with people who needed help and did not know where to go for help.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest are becoming more educated about self advocacy and to help others use self advocacy. Another interest for me is teaching the information I have learned about self advocacy to TRACE classes as well as elementary schools.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I want to serve on the State Council because I want to become more educated so I can help other people to become more educated.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I would be able to share how I have used self advocacy in my life. A strength I have is sharing information with people who are not aware of what it is like to have a disability.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been a foster parent to many children that have had varying developmental disabilities. I adopted two children that have presented with significant developmental disabilities. I now have experienced how important it is to increase both awareness and education about identifying these disabilities in children as soon as possible in order to provide the needed services.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I have a great interest in helping identify children with developmental disabilities as early as possible in order to match them with services that are in place to help them thrive.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am very committed to helping this segment of our population as much as possible. I believe the greater number of people available to be a voice for those in need help to implement services available in a successful way.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

As a parent I have direct experience in the challenges that those responsible for the well being of individuals with developmental disabilities go through. As a lay person the experience of working in the system to educate oneself about every aspect of the needs, processes and hurdles is a unique one most parents/caregivers.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been working in the field of Special Education since the late 70s (both here in CA, in WA, and in Morocco). I am presently a Program Manager (for SpED Division of San Diego Unified). As well, I was a foster parent serving special needs children for 17 years. AND, I am the parent of a daughter who receives services through SD Regional Center.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Now that my daughter is 23, and living in an adult care facility, I am finding myself more and more interested in the services available to persons AFTER they leave the public education system.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to put my passion and commitment to the betterment of the lives of people with Developmental Disabilities to work within our communities. I have a vast array of experiences both as a parent and as a professional and feel I can help make a positive difference.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

A deep knowledge of disabilities both professionally and how it impacts the lives of families; a knowledge of how different cultural groups accept (or don't) people with disabilities - having worked with families on the Colville Reservation, spending 6 years working as a birth-to-three teachers serving children and families who were migrant workers, living and working (in special education) in Morocco for 3 years, and being the parent of African-American (now adult) children and developing personal and professional connections within the African-American community here in San Diego. As well, I have personal skills to bring to "the table" - being the coordinator/lead of SDUSD's dispute resolution team.

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?"

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My interest in and knowledge of the developmental disability field and service system developed because I have autism and have experienced first-hand how various aspects of service for developmental disabilities operates.

My continuing work in organizations that serve people with special needs, and my ongoing guest lectures on "Living With Autism" and other disability workshops, have complemented my passion for helping people with special needs have access to education and resources that improve their well-being. In the education industry, I have seen firsthand the disturbing discrimination that thrives in post-secondary education. In the mid-2000s, I sought assistance from Department Of Rehabilitation (DOR) for my undergraduate education. From that experience, I learned that a system is only as effective as the individuals operating in it, and an individual counselor's willingness to collaborate with a client can affect whether the services are obtained. After approximately two years without obtaining an agreement by my counselor for an education and employment plan, my San Diego Regional Center case manager attended a meeting with me and DOR, in which DOR finally proposed an offer to fund the last semester of my education...if I agreed to become a Border Patrol agent. Respectfully, I declined that unsuitable offer. However, the offer set a precedent for other students with autism to be able to acquire financial assistance from DOR for college.

For law school application, the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) required extensive documentation (at least 65 pages) of my developmental disability throughout my elementary, secondary, and post-secondary education, and the testing accommodations I had throughout education. LSAC had a limited number of categories for testing accommodations, and none of these included anything related to autism. Because I have dysgraphia, which is a difficulty with handwriting, my test accommodations throughout education have included use of a laptop and more time for writing essays or filling bubbles on a scantron. None of those accommodations were provided to me for the two attempts in the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). In the second attempt, the only accommodation I received was use of ear plugs. A class action lawsuit was made against LSAC by those with developmental disabilities, and a bill was passed into law mandating that LSAC provide test-takers with test accommodations that they had prior to taking the LSAT.

My knowledge of developmental disability service also includes that pertaining to group homes for developmental disabilities. For my law school scholarly writing project, I wrote a paper called "Home Sweet Home???: Fixing Group Homes for Human Beings Who Have Special Needs." This paper covers the background about how group homes first came to exist in the 1950s and the institutional problems they were trying to fix. Then the background reveals the problems that creating group homes has not fixed. Next, the background addresses the types of group homes and the requirements that group homes are supposed to meet. After the background section, the analysis addresses the main interrelated problems that include imbalances in resident/staff ratios, resident mistreatment, lack of oversight and staff training, and insufficient state funding for group homes. Then the paper proposes solutions for the primary problems.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system include special education law, residential care for the developmentally disabled, and post-secondary education for individuals with developmental disabilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities because of the opportunity to collaborate with others at the state level to bring positive state-wide reformations that California regions can implement. I would cherish an opportunity to use experience as a person with autism and gather insights on how various regions are operating, in order to help establish 1) state laws of general applicability and 2) templates for implementation that regions can apply and tailor to their regional needs.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

The strengths I would bring to the State Council include interacting and forming trusting relationships with others who have developmental disabilities and their families, legal knowledge, legal research skills, first-hand experience as a person with autism, negotiation abilities, and analytical skills.

My passion has always been the rights for disabled individuals. It has been a long journey, but I have seen significant progress in this area. Although we have come a long way, we still need to persevere!

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am retired now, however have worked in the field of social work and advocacy for persons with developmental disabilities for almost 30 years. I continue to be involved with the developmentally disabled community through volunteering with agencies I have worked for in the past. I would be interested in being on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have worked as a case manager and Supervisor/ Area Manager with the Regional Center of Orange County for 12 years. I was also employed at Dayle McIntosh Center for 7 years as a client advocate. I have a passion for helping those in need. For several years, I was the program director for UCP adult program. I feel confident in my experiences and education that I would be an asset to your committee.

I am a: representative of the general public

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

Ever since I started working in this field I never really realized how grateful we should be for the simplest things in life we are able to do. Once I started being more familiar with more individuals with developmental disabilities I realized that they deserve so much more than what they are normally exposed to. They are amazing individuals that are only limited to some resources because sometimes they are not aware of them or they don't think they are able to learn or do certain things.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I would mainly like to get involved in community service, helping with projects, volunteering at events, and help be a resource to families that need the assistance. I also speak Spanish and I've come to learn that a lot of families that don't speak English are much more limited to resources because at times they are timid of just communication and that way they don't shy away from great opportunities. I want to be able to help families as much as I can.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I really want to be part of this council because I want to be able to transform the lives of individuals and families with developmental disabilities. I would like to provide support, knowledge, and help open the doors to a fuller life that they truly deserve.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am a very motivated, organized, responsible, problem-solver, positive, high energy individual that can establish great relationships with people that I come across with. I have patience, knowledge, and open communication skills based on what I've learned in my 5 years that I've worked in this field as a Program Director. I have also organized and been a part of many community events that service those with developmental disabilities. Some of the events I've been a part of are Autism walk, Buddy walk for down syndrome, Los Angeles Special Olympics, Annual Toy drives, food drives and many more.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

It comes naturally. I was born into it, I have cerebral palsy. Through challenges of my own and of others who I have met, I realized that more could and should be done to simplify the systems upon which we rely.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

First and foremost, transportation and travel. Also, accessibility of public spaces and places, including hotels and housing.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to share my experience and knowledge regarding the challenges that face so many citizens in so many areas. The public transportation available to us is dismal. If I could help improve this one area, I would be very grateful.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have 21 years of experience in the travel and transportation business as owner of my own travel agency. I have excellent communication skills. I have knowledge of the practices and accommodations for people facing challenges in 25 countries and more than half of these United States. I know that California could be doing so much better.

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?*

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My interest developed because I have always felt strongly about advocating for myself as well as others. I have become a better advocate by all the information I have learn by being on this committee. I have been able to share these resources with people who needed help and did not know where to go for help.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest are becoming more educated about self advocacy and to help others use self advocacy. Another interest for me is teaching the information I have learned about self advocacy to TRACE classes as well as elementary schools.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I want to serve on the State Council because I want to become more educated so I can help other people to become more educated.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I would be able to share how I have used self advocacy in my life. A strength I have is sharing information with people who are not aware of what it is like to have a disability.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been a foster parent to many children that have had varying developmental disabilities. I adopted two children that have presented with significant developmental disabilities. I now have experienced how important it is to increase both awareness and education about identifying these disabilities in children as soon as possible in order to provide the needed services.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I have a great interest in helping identify children with developmental disabilities as early as possible in order to match them with services that are in place to help them thrive.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am very committed to helping this segment of our population as much as possible. I believe the greater number of people available to be a voice for those in need help to implement services available in a successful way.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

As a parent I have direct experience in the challenges that those responsible for the well being of individuals with developmental disabilities go through. As a lay person the experience of working in the system to educate oneself about every aspect of the needs, processes and hurdles is a unique one most parents/caregivers.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have a 2 year old granddaughter that was born with Down syndrome. I have another family member with Down syndrome and she is 35 years old and I have a 17 year old family member that has Autism. A member of Area Board 10 went I spoke at Club 21 on a day I had volunteered and I sat through his presentation. I learned a lot but then I realized that there was another way I could be part of the solution.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I want to be part of the solution and educating others on what families really go through. Not the perception.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Like I mentioned I want to be part of the committed to address real issues when it comes to challenges. I want to educate people on what they can accomplish.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I bring my military background, my people skills and my ability to want to learn and speak out in support of all people with Developmental Disabilities. As I mentioned I have a second family member with Down syndrome who is well into her thirties and her parents never reached out to anyone. They tell me it was out of fear and embarrassment. I want to talk to people and groups and help bring them out so they can be helped, talked too, share information.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been working in the field of Special Education since the late 70s (both here in CA, in WA, and in Morocco). I am presently a Program Manager (for SpED Division of San Diego Unified). As well, I was a foster parent serving special needs children for 17 years. AND, I am the parent of a daughter who receives services through SD Regional Center.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Now that my daughter is 23, and living in an adult care facility, I am finding myself more and more interested in the services available to persons AFTER they leave the public education system.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to put my passion and commitment to the betterment of the lives of people with Developmental Disabilities to work within our communities. I have a vast array of experiences both as a parent and as a professional and feel I can help make a positive difference.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

A deep knowledge of disabilities both professionally and how it impacts the lives of families; a knowledge of how different cultural groups accept (or don't) people with disabilities - having worked with families on the Colville Reservation, spending 6 years working as a birth-to-three teachers serving children and families who were migrant workers, living and working (in special education) in Morocco for 3 years, and being the parent of African-American (now adult) children and developing personal and professional connections within the African-American community here in San Diego. As well, I have personal skills to bring to "the table" - being the coordinator/lead of SDUSD's dispute resolution team.

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My interest in and knowledge of the developmental disability field and service system developed because I have autism and have experienced first-hand how various aspects of service for developmental disabilities operates.

My continuing work in organizations that serve people with special needs, and my ongoing guest lectures on "Living With Autism" and other disability workshops, have complemented my passion for helping people with special needs have access to education and resources that improve their well-being. In the education industry, I have seen firsthand the disturbing discrimination that thrives in post-secondary education. In the mid-2000s, I sought assistance from Department Of Rehabilitation (DOR) for my undergraduate education. From that experience, I learned that a system is only as effective as the individuals operating in it, and an individual counselor's willingness to collaborate with a client can affect whether the services are obtained. After approximately two years without obtaining an agreement by my counselor for an education and employment plan, my San Diego Regional Center case manager attended a meeting with me and DOR, in which DOR finally proposed an offer to fund the last semester of my education...if I agreed to become a Border Patrol agent. Respectfully, I declined that unsuitable offer. However, the offer set a precedent for other students with autism to be able to acquire financial assistance from DOR for college.

For law school application, the Law School Admission Council (LSAC) required extensive documentation (at least 65 pages) of my developmental disability throughout my elementary, secondary, and post-secondary education, and the testing accommodations I had throughout education. LSAC had a limited number of categories for testing accommodations, and none of these included anything related to autism. Because I have dysgraphia, which is a difficulty with handwriting, my test accommodations throughout education have included use of a laptop and more time for writing essays or filling bubbles on a scantron. None of those accommodations were provided to me for the two attempts in the Law School Admission Test (LSAT). In the second attempt, the only accommodation I received was use of ear plugs. A class action lawsuit was made against LSAC by those with developmental disabilities, and a bill was passed into law mandating that LSAC provide test-takers with test accommodations that they had prior to taking the LSAT.

My knowledge of developmental disability service also includes that pertaining to group homes for developmental disabilities. For my law school scholarly writing project, I wrote a paper called "Home Sweet Home???: Fixing Group Homes for Human Beings Who Have Special Needs." This paper covers the background about how group homes first came to exist in the 1950s and the institutional problems they were trying to fix. Then the background reveals the problems that creating group homes has not fixed. Next, the background addresses the types of group homes and the requirements that group homes are supposed to meet. After the background section, the analysis addresses the main interrelated problems that include imbalances in resident/staff ratios, resident mistreatment, lack of oversight and staff training, and insufficient state funding for group homes. Then the paper proposes solutions for the primary problems.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system include special education law, residential care for the developmentally disabled, and post-secondary education for individuals with developmental disabilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities because of the opportunity to collaborate with others at the state level to bring positive state-wide reformations that California regions can implement. I would cherish an opportunity to use experience as a person with autism and gather insights on how various regions are operating, in order to help establish 1) state laws of general applicability and 2) templates for implementation that regions can apply and tailor to their regional needs.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

The strengths I would bring to the State Council include interacting and forming trusting relationships with others who have developmental disabilities and their families, legal knowledge, legal research skills, first-hand experience as a person with autism, negotiation abilities, and analytical skills.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My sister was diagnosed with Autism and a profound Intellectual Disability when she was two years old. I have grown up in a family that is a client of Lanterman Regional Center, and my mother gave up her career to enter into Special Education in our local school district. I volunteered at various day and summer camp programs for children and adults with disabilities before studying Neuroscience at USC for my B.A. and studying Human Development for my M.A. I am a Case Manager for Behavior Frontiers and am actively involved in the policy and advocacy efforts of Lanterman Regional Center, the Lanterman Coalition, and have been developing the California Sibling Leadership Network to expand the support and empowerment of Siblings with people with disabilities. My interest and knowledge in the field has been, and continues to be, ingrained in my upbringing and personal passion.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Service Provision (I am a Case Manager for a company that provides services to clients with developmental disabilities);

Advocacy and Policy (As a sister and a service provider, I see the need for collaboration for updated policies that address the needs of the client and the provider);

Research (As a trained Neuroscientist and Behavior Analyst, I am fully aware of the important of evidence-based practices and the need to continually investigate various methods of intervention, policy, and family systems support)

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities because I bring a unique perspective to the efforts of Disability Service Policy. As a Sibling, I understand the needs of the families. As a service provider, I understand the needs of the organizations that hold the life quality of their clients in the highest regard. I believe my experience has cultivated in me a desire and urge to change the world of developmental service policy through action and involvement in the political systems that enable us to continue the work that we do.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I bring my perspective as a Sibling, my work as a Service Provider, my insight as a Behavior Analyst, my communication as a writer whose book is in publication (I have written a book about growing up with my sister and the ways in which a sibling with a disability impacts the "typical" Siblings), and my drive as an advocate.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I suppose you could say that my interest and knowledge began while I was employed by the State of Oregon as a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor. Then I had my own son with developmental challenges. Within weeks I was thrown into a system that 34 years ago was not prepared to meet his needs. I have been fighting for him to have a good life ever since.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Housing is a huge need. Parents age and Developmental Centers are going to change. As our children move into adulthood, they must have humane and just care in the community. That will never happen without appropriate housing.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have both professional and personal experiences in traveling the road needed to provide good, broad-based care and support.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have formed my own parent-run Supported Living Agency and now gotten non-profit status for it.

Over the years I have successfully dealt with schools, hospitals, doctors, therapists, the Regional Center, supporting agencies such as CalFresh and In-Home Support, and more to have my son in the community living as independently as possible. I have created success within the system that many do not understand.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

First I would like to say I am living with Cerebral Palsy. As a child living with this disability I learned the importance of having a voice. I knew I wanted to control my life and set goals for myself when others didn't believe that I could achieve them. As a young adult I gained my conservator-ship over myself. As I got older I moved out on my own into my own home. This is when I realized the importance of resources and opportunities for myself and my peers. I underwent many struggles of trying to gain my independence and find work. I also, wanted be an active member of my community. As an older adult I interviewed for a position at my agency for an Employer Advocate. Since being hired I have worked hard to inform and keep others with disabilities informed about policies, legislation that would affect our lives. Along with encouraging others to let their voices be heard when it came to policies and changes to our lives. I am now not only a Employer Advocate for my agency. I am also a council member for the Sacramento County Developmental Disability Planning and Advisory Committee. I attend all hearings at the Sacramento State Capital and other advocacy groups. I am always looking more way to help better serve those with disabilities whether they are a child or an adult.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

As a person living with Cerebral Palsy, I am interested in many fields that have a direct impact on my life. I have high service needs so care-giving and in-home support services are a must. I also, am passionate about education and work opportunities for people with disabilities. I also, have recently did some work on housing for those with development disabilities. Another field I am interest in is providing resources needed for one's own independence including transportation, healthcare, financial stability and many more.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe with my experience, hard working and determined attitude. I would be an asset to the State Council on Development Disabilities Council or Regional Advisory Committees. I hold the values of equality and equal opportunity for all despite having a disability. I also, know first hand what it is like to live with a disability and all the struggles that come with one trying to navigate through life. This would be the perfect opportunity for me to get involved at professional level with my community and really make an impact. That is why I believe I would be a excellent candidate for the State Council on Development Disabilities or the Regional Advisory Committees.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am living with Cerebral Palsy. I can identify not only with people who have a severe disability but with those who do not. I am fearless when it comes to standing up for people or children with a disability. I have the ability to communicate effectively to officials or my peers. To help them understand their rights or how things affect them. I am independent and hardworking along with a happy attitude. I have a first hand look with my community because I am apart of it. I think it is always a strength to have someone like myself with a disability living and working in the community. That can show and inspire others to do better or the same.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My personal background with disabilities started as a child when my brother was diagnosed with Attention Deficit Hyperactivity Disorder (ADHD) and continued at Goodwill of Orange County where I served as a Job Seeking Skills Training Instructor for 20 years. My experience in these areas taught me the value of patience that parents, siblings and teachers need to have for children with disabilities. The Goodwill population I worked with consisted of youth transitioning from school to work and adults transitioning from long-term periods of unemployment back into the workforce. My joint counseling and instruction entailed me using strong code of ethics to provide confidential counseling to students with disabilities, with the goal of empowering and providing them with individualized guidance to reach their success. I coordinated instructional matters, and was on the team to maintain high accreditation standards through the California Accreditation Rehabilitation Foundation (CARF), taught occupational skills to students with learning disabilities, physical disabilities, military veterans and other barriers to employment. I have even done networking and collaboration with colleges such as California State University, Fullerton, to share ideas for education enhancement. I take pride in my commitment to building partnerships with students and their families, collaborating with them and with other instructors, and referring vocational counselors to help students accomplish their goals.

MY PHILOSOPHY:

Inclusion and Collaboration Go Hand-in-Hand:

Every student with special needs should have the opportunity to learn in an inclusive educational environment with education team and the student with special needs, using collaboration to enhance academic and social skills to make a positive difference.

Every Student has unique qualities:

Each student has unique qualities that he or she is born with and those qualities need to be discovered by building trust and a strong professional relationship with the student and do the appropriate assessment to determine those qualities. Each student with special needs to be encouraged to take the leadership role in decision-making in his or her education. It is too often that when children reach adulthood and transition to college/continued education or the workforce, they are not taught this and have been socialized to express their goals and dreams. They are too caught up in what their support team of teachers, administrators, case managers and parents deem appropriate.

Education Should Be Individualized:

Every student has individual needs and, with every child and adult with disabilities whom I have worked with, I have been mindful of implementing the appropriate assessments and speaking to them one-on-one about those needs. Each individual also benefits from different ways of learning. Technology plays a major role in learning. Many students with special needs have increased learning through computer technology with interactive modules with video modeling.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

1. Inclusion for students in grade school and college, adults transitioning from high school to employment and housing for seniors with developmental disabilities.
2. An expanded childcare system for children with developmental disabilities.
3. Educational technology for children and adults with developmental disabilities, integrated with counseling to give them empowerment.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

People with developmental disabilities is my life. I have cousin who is 21 years old with Autism Spectrum Disorder and he is nonverbal. His mother is my Godsister. I have many years of bonding with adults with disabilities who I worked side-by-side with at Goodwill of Orange County. Many training and supported employment programs have decreased in funding and support, which leaves them sitting home at their board and care. This makes me sad and I want to be an integral part of a committee to help empower them and have their lives be productive to increase their self-esteem and happiness. The best part of helping people with developmental disabilities that I miss at Goodwill was the clients/students simply telling me, "Thank You" and "I Love You Lori."

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

- Curriculum Development
- Instruction Development
- Leadership/Supervision
- Autism Spectrum Disorders
- Developmental Disabilities

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

As a parent of a disabled individual, I have been around the "system" for over 30 years. Recently, I decided the system needs to change.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I think the current methods and systems are not transparent.

I think that funding has been cut to bone for service providers.

I think if the system doesn't change large non profit care providers will driven to bankruptcy. As a result, the State of California will become responsible for the care of thousands of clients.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am a sibling of a person with a developmental disability. Having grown up with my sister and seeing what her needs were as an individual, I became interested in learning more about what services were available.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Policy and implementation, making the process for services provided more efficient while maintaining a high quality of services for persons served.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I want to gain a better understanding on how the system works and hopefully improve it for the people it serves. I have served on the Board of Directors at the local chapter level of The Arc and currently serve on the Board of Directors of The Arc Ca. I wish to further expand my knowledge of the system.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Prior experience at the Board of Directors level for chapter and State level for The Arc of Amador and Calaveras, and The Arc Ca, respectively. An interest in 'big picture' policy issues, a desire to streamline the process of services provided in order to make it more efficient while providing the best quality service available.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I was born with down syndrome and am part of the community with people with disabilities. I currently use some of the services provided.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Being born with a disability I don't think there's an area of interest which I'm not interested in. I want to promote awareness, education and acceptance in society now and for future generations.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I want to be in the role of government as an advocate for people with disabilities. It started back when I was a young teenager then when I was a late teen I was asked by Easter Seals if I was interested in being an Ambassador which I did for two years. I was also nominated for National Ambassador. I didn't receive the nomination but I realized that representing and speaking on behalf of people with disabilities would become my lifelong dream. I've also battled leukemia after graduating high school and will be officially cured this October of 2015 for 5 years.. I don't think anything can stop me from my dream of representing people with disabilities and this October will prove it.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I not only would bring my passion and voice for people of disabilities but also my energy. I'm a team player who has great stage presence and loves public speaking. In my family we have several generations of lawyers and I've known since I was a young teen I was meant to be in government.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

When I first got started I worked with the Dept. of Rehab and went through a supported employment agency. They lead me to a variety of different groups and I was a member of the Disability Advisory Committee for Yolo County.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am interested in the rights for people with I/DD, I have knowledge of supported employment for people with I/DD, and recreation options.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I feel that with my prior experience in many areas I bring a lot of strengths in different areas. I serviced as President of Yolo County People's First. I was a board member for 6 years for Vocational Training and Employment. After being employed with the State, I attended the State Governor's committee on employing people with disabilities at the Capitol. I served as a safety officer and would inspect different work sites where people with I/DD worked. We would do evaluations and submitted them to CARF.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Expertise in the above mentioned areas. I am willing and able to attend meetings. I was a union activist. I like to speak up for the rights of people with developmental disabilities. I wouldn't have achieved all this without being a member of Yolo County People's First and learning to speak up for myself and others.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have worked in the field of developmental services for over forty years. I started volunteering at a program for children when I was 14. Got my doctorate in Neurosciences in Boulder in 1978 and my Ph.D. in Psychology from Berkeley in 1992. I have worked in different aspects of the field this entire time from residential treatment programs to the region resource development program at Sonoma State. I adopted my first boy diagnosed with Autism when he was five. He is now 33. My other two sons are also diagnosed as having Autism as well.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Areas that I feel as though I know fairly well -

Autism

Language disorders

Developmental neurological disorders

My interest has been in -

Research, diagnosis, treatment, behavioral instruction, education and enhanced day treatment.

I am trying to learn more about Long term care, special needs trusts, supported-living programs.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

This is not a vocation for me but an avocation as well. I feel strongly that we must do more to help people labeled with "disabilities" to have a greater opportunity in life in all ways. I am very happy to see my sons grow and learn skills that allow them to be more social, interactive, accepted and in turn they benefit from having a fuller richer life. I think I might be able to help give input if possible to enhance opportunities state-wide for many others.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Thirty three years as a parent of three sons diagnosed with Autism. Forty plus years in the field working with people diagnosed with Autism and Asperger's and similar disorders in schools, day treatment, residential settings. I think I have a good knowledge of both the professional side of things as well as what a parent goes through. I hope that I might be of assistance in some meaningful way if possible. Thank-you!

I am a: parent, family member, legal guardian or conservator of a person with a developmental disability

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am a parent of a developmentally disabled child, and her current IHSS provider (until she transitions to SLS services in August). In working to plan for her future, I have attended a variety of conferences pertaining to the developmentally disabled including two ARC policy conferences, and the 2014 Housing Conference sponsored by the San Francisco Autism Society. Having been through both the Fair Hearing and 4731 processes with no advocacy support, I have put hundreds of hours into reading and re-reading the Lanterman Act, Title 17 and Title 22, and their interpretations by Disability Rights and others.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

With the upcoming HCBS and self-determination transitions, the potential introduction of overtime for personal care providers, and other growing cost pressures, we are facing significant regulatory change coupled with the obligation to manage cost. At the same time, the ongoing explosion of new enabling technologies built upon cloud, wireless and wearable innovations are providing us with unprecedented opportunities to deliver better service for IDD consumers at lower cost.

My interests are:

First, create or adapt policies to ease the adoption of emerging and evolving technology solutions that can improve outcomes and independence, while reducing service costs for the IDD population.

Second, improving information flow to this population to facilitate choice, deliver information about new solutions and training opportunities, and enable self-advocacy.

Third, adapt or create policies to improve availability of new and existing housing solutions. There is a huge wave of aging care providers who soon will no longer be able to care for their IDD charges; another wave of young autistic consumers who will soon age out of the school system and require housing solutions; and a declining supply of housing for the IDD population in California. Given the state's legal obligations to the IDD population, the financial impact of providing housing will be increasingly painful if not addressed promptly through more cost effective solutions.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

The association of regional centers has described its current status as a system on the verge of collapse. It will take more than money to address the many changes and challenges facing the system. The SCDD has a pressing and vital role to play in updating and creating policies to help DDS and regional centers succeed.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

1. Technology Expertise: I have worked with technology companies for the better part of 3 decades in various analytical, strategic and financial capacities. There is an emerging explosion of new solutions that will revolutionize care for the IDD population at lower cost -- but only if they can be adopted.
2. Executing Positive Change: For most of the 1990s, I consulted with distressed companies to create and execute new strategies to succeed.
3. Knowledge of Lanterman Act, Title 17 and Title 22 gained through advocacy.
4. Strategic Planning and Drafting Skills. Both as a consultant and Executive Vice President of Emulex Corporation, I drafted and monitored execution of corporate strategic plans. This was a collaborative process which required that differences be explored and compromises be created, and resistance to change be overcome, all within a legal framework.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My interest, knowledge and passion for the developmental disability field and service system came when 911 and Hurricane Katrina occurred. At the time, my son, who is diagnosed with Autism was 6 years old. He was unable to communicate. Watching the news from those two incidents, I wanted to reach out to support the first responders in responding to the special needs population.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My education is in public safety with a specialization in emergency management. I am also a consultant on Autism. Therefore, I am interested in the disaster preparedness for the developmental disability population.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to serve on the State Council representing the Vietnamese population bringing my disaster preparedness knowledge in servicing the special needs population. I have both personal and professional experience with Autism for almost two decades.

For the Regional Advisory Committee, I would like to be a resource for disaster preparedness for families with developmental disabilities.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

As a caregiver, and now an adoptive parent of a child with a rare-form of genetic disorder. My journey has not been easy. Cade was born on June 5, 1998 and appeared normal. The first seizure occurred when he was 3 months old. We had no idea the extent of his disability or what we were going to be facing down the road. We just knew, in order to help him and others like him I needed to educate myself about his developmental disabilities and genetic disorder.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interest is working together in a collaborative effort with dedicated groups and building positive approaches that will enhance the quality of life for individuals with developmental disabilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

We all have reasons why we should serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities. My reason is simple. Advocate for Advocacy. Bring awareness and help build consensus. Don't look away and stay focus on the the Mission and Goals for those we passionately serve with the State Council on Developmental Disabilities.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am currently serving on a State Council on Developmental Disabilities Regional Advisory Committee North Coast (formerly called Area Board 1), and have followed the actions of the SCDD.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My primary interests are: word opportunities, housing, rural transportation and its effect on people's lives, and the aging population of our consumers/clients. I am also concerned that the constant cuts over the years of budgetary problems have not been restored and how this affects the success and availability of support service vendors.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have served 9 years with the Redwood Coast Regional Center, including terms as president, vice-president, secretary and Association of Regional Center Agencies (ARCA), and am now in my 2nd term with the local Regional Advisory Committee for the SCDD. I feel it is time to spread my wings to the larger scale afforded by participating directly in the SCDD at the state level.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

In addition to having 18 years experience as a disability advocate, I have authored the Redwood Coast Regional Center's Purchase of Service Guidelines to be in compliance with the then new Person-Centered requirements. This was the first such revised POSG approved by the State of California. I have a good deal of experience in public speaking and have spoken before the State Subcommittee on Finance to represent consumers and vendors during Gov. Schwarzenegger's term of office. I have attended and hosted workshops on a wide range of disability issues. I am a co-founder of an online support network for families of children with Down syndrome. Our son, Sam, is 18 years old with Down syndrome. I bring passion, creativity and a collaborative spirit to every project I undertake.

I am a: person with a developmental disability, parent, family member, legal guardian or conservator of a person with a developmental disability

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

By working in Valley Mountain Regional, Stockton, CA; Kern Regional Center, Bakersfield, Ca; Riverside Association for Developmental Disabilities clients, Riverside, CA

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interest would be to continue working and providing help for those people especially the one who is confined to Porterville State Hospital and the Disabled Veterans.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to voice my opinion on how much service needs are in the community. I would like to see that the Veterans with disabilities get and receive the proper care and service.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have been around working in and out as a social worker for people with disabilities for the past thirty-eight plus years. I have and will continue voicing my positive opinion for people with Developmental Disabilities. I have very strong feelings because of my two sisters, one partially blind and the other a Downs Syndrome.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My son was diagnosed with ADHD, but he actually had autism and epilepsy. Although he was in general education classes I soon realized that the school district did not know what to do to help(2008). He is now in high school and is doing great because unlike the K-8 school district the high school district has given substantial support.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Education, independence and freedom to choose what makes them happy.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I volunteer as parent support to many families especially Spanish speaking parents because nobody treats them as an equal participant at iep meetings. I share with all parents and school administrators new information about disabilities. I want to bring awareness that although our children with disabilities have several challenges they also have the ability to contribute to our communities.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have had to step of my comfort zone as a full time employee of a big corporation and a 'mommy' to advocate for my son. During all these years the school administrators and myself collaborate in meeting to make improvement with special education. This year the school district did a summer camp for special education.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the father of Eveline Landry, who was born in 1986 with significant developmental and physical disabilities. Eveline died in 1999. Her mother and I were active in the disabilities community while she was alive, and since her death, we continue our work to make the world a better place for persons with developmental disabilities and their families.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am a strong advocate for systemic change — helping the agencies we create to more effectively fulfill their responsibilities. Whether that's my State Council, my local school district, my local legislators, or my local Boy Scout council, we need to do a better job in so many areas of disability support and advocacy. Personally, I am especially interested the protection of persons with disabilities in their contacts with the justice system, and improvements in the State Council's governance.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

The state of California has a responsibility to provide support and services to persons with disabilities, their families and supporters. As complicated as the system is, I know that there are opportunities to significantly impact the quality of people's lives by the work done by the SCDD and the RACs. I have years of experience in helping various organizations provide service with persons with disabilities, and at this stage in my life, I look forward to continuing to help in this area.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

DD EXPERIENCE. In 1993, I was appointed by Governor Pete Wilson to the Developmental Disabilities Board for Area 10 (serving LA County). In 1998, I was appointed by Governor Wilson to the State Council on Developmental Disabilities for my last year on the Area Board. In 2003, was reappointed to AB 10 by County Supervisor Gloria Molina, and I continue to serve on the Los Angeles Regional Advisory Committee.

Since 1996, I have been a member of several advisory committees for the Chanda Smith Consent Decree, which settled a federal class-action lawsuit concerning Los Angeles Unified School District's failure to provide special education services to its students. Until 2003, I was a member of the Executive Committee of the Community Planning Committee. Since 2003, I have been a member of the Modified Consent Decree's Parents' Council. Since 2001, I have been a parent member of the LAUSD Steering Committee for the Integrated Student Information. In 2009, I started the Verdugo Hills Council's Committee on Scouts with Disabilities and Special Needs, and I continue to serve as a member of that committee. I have provided training and counseling for troop leaders, families, Scouts, and other neighboring councils.

LEADERSHIP EXPERIENCE. I served as the chair of Area Board 10 for three years and the Organization of Area Boards for one year. For ten years, I served as the president of my professional organization. Recently, I was elected the president of my neighborhood organization. I serve on the board of directors for the Verdugo Hills Council, Boy Scouts of America. I have been the council's Training Committee chair for 15 years, and I am the council's Youth Protection "Champion." Several times, I have taught the section on boardsmanship for the "Partners In Policymaking" training course for parents and advocates in the DD community, and I have provided boardsmanship training for several nonprofit organizations. I teach various leadership courses for the Boy Scouts of America.

In 2012, I retired after working 27 years for the Southern California Edison Company, most recently as the manager of energy efficiency program evaluation. For seven years, I was a facilitator of the corporate diversity training to SCE employees. After retiring from SCE, I now serve on the California Technical Forum, a statewide advisory group for utility energy efficiency programs.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My second daughter was born in 1977 at the cusp of the disability civil rights movement. She, and I, have grown up with the movement. I joined by first advocacy group when she was three and finally diagnosed. As I struggled to have her receive services (she was denied by CCS at age 3), I realized that my education, drive, and ability to advocate put me in a position of responsibility to all the other families with disabled members who might not be so endowed.

I became a full-time law student while the parent of three young daughters. Not only was it difficult to attend school with a family, but my husband and I were subjected to additional strains because of our disabled daughter who had developed seizures. My experiences only made me more determined than ever to advocate for systemic reforms.

In addition, as a newly licensed lawyer working in the field of labor and employment, I became familiar with the new ADA at a time when the AIDS epidemic was just beginning to gain momentum in San Francisco.

I recognized, yet again, how civil rights legislation can pave the way for significant societal change.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

As a lawyer, I am particularly interested in institutional and systemic reforms which have the greatest impact on the disabled population, their families and communities. My daughter is a client of the Regional Center of the East Bay where her burdened case manager handles sixty-plus clients in maze of meetings and crises.

We must speak forcefully and often to bolster are system's failing infrastructure, while we advocate for adequate funding for both the Regional Centers and our incredibly strained community service providers. Without such funding, hard-won civil rights are without meaning.

I wish to secure both a continuum of appropriate services for the broad range of disabled individuals and the opportunity for these individuals to work in a meaningful, integrated, and inclusive way in our society. We need look to the future as well to be innovative in order to serve the needs of a more diverse and often younger disabled population. We must expect many youngsters who are on the autism spectrum, are ethnically or linguistically diverse. At the same time, we must plan for serving an aging developmentally delayed population.

In relationship to our need to look ahead, I also am interested in seeing a strengthening of transition services for students in our secondary schools. Our Employment First policy requires that we adequately prepare students for meaningful life in the community and for work, in whatever form that takes for the individual. We must collaborate with the school systems , DOR, DDS, and the legislature to create and fund services which implement what is otherwise an empty legislative promise.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe that the State Council and the RACs are important advocacy organizations which we cannot afford to ignore in our quest for systemic reform of the DD system. The next few years in our newly reconfigured system will be significant ones during which we will breathe life into the framework. It is important that we create a vibrant Council which leads with courage, and an active grassroots system through the RACs.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

As a passionate advocate and a parent, I believe that I can adequately express the interests of my community with which I have worked for over 35 years. I am articulate, and well-versed in the baroque system which supports the disabled. As a lawyer, I am comfortable with government policy, legislation, and court case law. As an actively involved parent, I can provide a unique perspective of a family member and caregiver who knows the difficulties and deficits of the current system of supports and services.

I have served on the Contra Costa Developmental Disability Council for a number of terms, beginning when my daughter was a child. Currently, I am the liaison from that Council to a coalition which works for legislative and policy changes called the East Bay Legislative Coalition.

In addition to attending meetings of the Co.Co.DD Council, I attend all meetings of the Alameda DD Council to keep abreast of our sister council's work. I am currently serving as a member of The East Bay Criminal Justice Committee, and the East Bay Employment Task Force.

My term of service on the former Area Board 5 Board of Directors has just expired. I have served multiple terms on the Board, and committees, including the mini-grant and membership committees.

I have been deeply involved in interviewing and selecting our current East Bay leadership. I have served both on the committee which selected our Director of the RCEB, Jim Burton, and our current Office Manager of the Bay Area Office of the SCDD, Gabriel Rogin. Last, I have served on the committee which selected our past staff to the Contra Costa DD Council, John Rodriguez.

I have two kids with disabilities, they have inspired me to be a better mom, to be informed, and to be the best advocate they can have to help them reach their maximum potential.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

The school system. This is such an interesting and complex system that I believe it can offer more opportunities to this unique and wonderful kids.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I strongly believe that if parents are informed, are part of the process where the decisions are taken in benefit of the kids, and work together as a big team, we can make a huge difference in the lives of the kids with disabilities, and their families.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

Years ago, after graduating from University, I began working at a day program for adults with severe disabilities. Many of our consumers had grown up in the state hospital setting. The day program was their first experience outside of the highly institutionalized setting. This experience inspired me to pursue a career in special education. I gained a teaching credential and Master's degree in Special Education and began teaching learners with exceptional needs. I have taught learners from birth to 22 who experience a variety of challenges. It is my passion and purpose to serve individuals with special needs.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am an advocate for individuals who experience severe and profound disabilities. I am passionate about the use of technology and assistive technology. I am very concerned about the promotion of self advocacy from a young age and the continuum of services post public education.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

As a teacher, I am able to impact the students in my class and support my fellow teachers. However, having taught for over twenty years, I feel as though I have more to offer than I am able to give in my immediate educational environment. I would also like to expand my scope of experience beyond the public education setting. A child's educational experience is important but it is just one aspect of a very multidimensional life that each person lives. I would like to facilitate a maximized life experience beyond the school setting.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I feel as though serving individuals with disabilities is my life calling. I have been drawn to this service and have grown as an individual and educator over the last 20 years. The most amazing people I have met in my life have been those individuals I have had the opportunity to serve. As a professional, I bring strong, task oriented skills with a varied background of experience. I am eager to learn and contribute on a larger scale than I currently serve.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the parent of two children, including a 13 year old with a significant developmental disability.

When my son was young and newly diagnosed, my efforts pertained to getting the education and supports needed to help with his development.

Much of my time was spent learning, and advocating for my son, while educating others regarding his disability.

Soon I found myself expanding my scope, hoping make a difference not only for my child, but for the many others with developmental disabilities who may not have, or assert, a voice.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

All areas. Children with developmental disabilities become adults with developmental disabilities. I believe affected children and adults should be given the supports and services needed to establish the same rights, freedoms, and independence, as others. These needs should be recognized and addressed by our society and government considering all stages of life, from childhood issues (such as medical care, therapy, education, etc.) , through adult issues (such as medical care, housing, employment, transportation, etc.), for ALL impacted individuals regardless of race, religion, or other demographic differences.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I'd like to help give a voice to those who may not have, or assert, one. It is morally and socially incumbent upon us to consider the developmentally disabled, and what they may need to live satisfying and productive lives, and work to support those needs. Unfortunately all too often, this does not take place. I'd like to serve on the SCDD, or continue serving on the RAC, to further my efforts and work in raising awareness of, and reaching solutions for, the developmental disabilities community, with their unique and complex challenges and needs. We need to "raise the bar" ---- the developmental disabilities community should not be an after-thought, but instead be proactively considered, and appropriately supported and accommodated, in all areas, as our society and government move forward into the future.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My strength is the ability to work with others, in considering multi-faceted, complex situations and issues, and achieving a desired outcome.

My education, business experience, and proven commitment to advocacy, all support my dedication and work in this area.

In summary:

I grew up in southern California, and graduated from UCLA. I know the greater Los Angeles and Southern California area and communities well. I have extensive experience working for a large insurance company, and have been a manager there for many years. As a manager, I have worked with company officers, department heads, and entry level employees, alike. I supervise many employees and handle and resolve everything from individual personnel issues, to team challenges, to working with and across multiple-departments to reach and exceed desired results.

As it pertains to advocacy, my actions support my passion in this area. I have attended and participated in numerous lectures, conferences and events. I am a graduate of the 2009 Partners in Policy making program for Los Angeles County (an eight month leadership training program, sponsored by the California Collaborative, and based upon a grant from the SCDD). I've been involved in limited press, including being featured, or quoted, in various articles. I've also done limited public speaking, such as being the featured speaker at a Regional Center orientation meeting for sibling support groups. Most notably, I was honored to be the closing speaker, sharing my family's personal experiences with my son's disability and successes, for a large auditorium, media-covered, event. My speech closed out the event following speeches by six politicians, including the Los Angeles mayor and a county supervisor.

In February 2012 I was appointed by Governor Brown to serve on Area Board 10 (this three-year appointment term ended 1/1/2015). At this time I continue to serve in this capacity, currently as Chairperson, for what is now known as the Regional Advisory Committee for the SCDD Los Angeles regional office. Over the last three years, I have been a dedicated and active member of AB10/LA-RAC. I also served in multiple other capacities including working on executive, grants, and nominations committees. Throughout 2014, I worked on a committee, where we successfully recruited, interviewed, and appointed self and family advocates to serve on Self-Determination Advisory Committees for all seven Regional Centers in our catchment area. In addition, I am an active member of the SCDD Legislative and Public Policy committee.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My awareness of the developmental disability field began with my son's diagnosis of autism at age 3 1/2. He is now 33 years old, so we have had many years of experience with the system. We also have received services through 2 regional centers (Orange County and Alta) and in 4 counties (Orange, Sacramento, El Dorado & Yolo).

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Greater emphasis on treating persons with developmental disabilities with respect for their individual needs and strengths. Elimination of the use of the term retardation at all levels. Development of an occupational life skill program that provides a process for adults with developmental disabilities similar to the successful OLS program at Bellevue College in Washington.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Ideally, to bring about change. Our experience with various service providers demonstrates the profound need to expand the general view and characterization of people with developmental disabilities. It is not and should not be a one size fits all approach. It is not only possible, but should be mandatory to provide an approach to services and supports that recognizes the needs and strengths of the person receiving services. Like many families and professionals in California we have seen first hand the benefit of the Social Thinking program developed by Michelle Garcia Winner. I would like to see more flexibility and emphasis on funding programs that work rather than funding bloated bureaucratic organizations that have no practical benefit to the person receiving services.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

A strong desire to advocate and bring about a forward thinking approach that honors and respects those served as individuals with developmental disabilities.

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

At 18 years-old, I began working with Children that have autism as an in-home therapist. I fell in love with the children and watching them learn and grow, teaching and supporting their parents, and helping to bridge the gap between home and school services and goals.

Over the last 12 years, I have worked with individuals with various developmental disabilities, and I am passionate about helping them to lives with as much independence and happiness as possible.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest in the field of developmental disabilities ranges from advocating individual rights in the community, educational rights in the school setting, increasing their independence with social, communication, and functional skills, parent training on decreasing problem behaviors and increasing deficits, and helping others be aware of the community resources available in the area.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to be involved with the State Council and Regional Advisory committees to help advocate for those with Developmental Disabilities, and promote a high quality of life by ensuring they receive access to fair and equal opportunities that the general population has access to. I look forward to working with others as a team to inspire new ideas and problem-solve areas of concern. At the very least, I look to help support this community that I am so passionate about.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

On a personal level, I am a positive, caring and honest individual that wants to help others. I can work independently, as well as cohesively when on a team.

On a professional level, I am able to communicate effectively in written and oral formats, and am comfortable speaking to large groups. I have a solid educational background in the field, with a BS in Psychology, an MA in Teaching, and I am a Board Certified Behavior Analyst.

I have worked with over 7 local school districts and with both Alta and North Bay Regional centers, attending IEP, IPP/IFSP meetings to collaborate on appropriate goals for individuals with disabilities, and am aware of local resources in the greater Sacramento area.

Lastly, I have a flexible personality that can easily adapt to different tasks. I enjoy working with others and meeting new people who share a common goal of helping others.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I became aware of the State Council while serving as a member of the State Rehabilitation Council (SRC) for the Department of Rehabilitation. I am very impressed with the goals and mission of the the State Council on Developmental Disabilities and now that my term is finished with the SRC, I would like to offer my knowledge, expertise and commitment to an organization that I believe in.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Individuals with developmental disabilities have the right for self determination, independence, productivity and inclusion. My personal and employment life has been committed to helping people with disabilities succeed. I have a strong background in creating opportunities for independence and inclusion for persons with developmental disabilities in the field of employment. I have also dedicated my life to working closely with parents and giving them the knowledge and hope that their children can succeed, live independently and overcome barriers to become fully productive in society.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would be honored to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities. As I previously mentioned, I believe in the purpose and value of your mission. I also have seen what can be accomplished serving on the State Rehabilitation Council in partnership with the Department of Rehabilitation. The opportunity to serve on the DD Council would give me the opportunity to learn and contribute to the success of the council.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have over 35 years working in the field of disability employment. My related history started while I was in graduate school as a floor supervisor at a sheltered workshop, where I then continued as a psychiatric social worker. In addition, I was the executive director of a statewide non profit employment disability organization for 8 years. In 1983, I started Milt Wright & Associates, Inc which is a business committed to bridging the gap between people with disabilities and work. We became known as the leading experts in the country on helping organizations and employers overcome attitudinal barriers that keep people with disabilities from succeeding. We wrote all of the ADA materials for the Society of Human Resource Management and their 250,000 members.

My work on the Department of Rehabilitation's as the planning and policy chair, vice chair and chair of the State Rehabilitation Council has helped me understand the inner workings of a state council. In addition, I have had many years working with family members of persons with developmental disabilities. It would be a true honor to bring my strengths and knowledge to support the council.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My son started having seizures at 5 months of age. He is now 8 years old and in the special education program at Sacramento Unified School District. He is in a good place now, but I worry about what his quality of life will be in the future and how he can have a fulfilling life despite his disability. I want him and all people with disabilities to have an opportunity to make a difference in the world and make a real contribution.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Education and awareness. It is time for this country to accept all types of people. We have made great progress in accepting Gay marriage and transgender. I think America is ready to stop discriminating against developmentally disabled persons. They need to be recognized as citizens and integrated into our overall society.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am a strong advocate for people's rights. I believe people will rise up to the expectations that are given to them. If we empower the developmentally disabled community, we will see great things from them. I want to educate the 99% of people that don't have a disability and inspire the 1% that do. We need to integrate these people into our overall society, not create separate programs that shut them out.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am very organized and natural born leader. I am passionate about the cause. I have a long history of success in my professional life and I'm fortunate that my husband is able to support our family so that I can help our community in other ways. I would love the opportunity to use my skills and talents to have an impact on a larger scale in our community and beyond.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the conservator and brother of an individual with special needs and I have been active in the community on various issues throughout my life. My community involvement paired with my experiences growing up and providing for an individual with developmental disabilities has driven my passion in the field.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I have a broad interest in the issues at large, however the majority of my passion and advocacy is directed toward the expansion of limited resources and protecting those resources currently available. I am also a proponent of increased transparency, efficiency and responsiveness within agencies.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am very passionate about assisting those with developmental disabilities because of my personal experiences and my interest in the community. I often write letters, contact my representatives on issues and provide feedback to agencies. While being active is a great way to help on issues, I believe I would be more useful in a formal capacity to an organization or committee.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My career background has given me excellent analytical skills and an ability to navigate various systems and resources quickly. This allows me to analyze policy quite well and could prove useful to the group. More importantly, throughout my life I have been alongside my special needs brother, growing into his conservator later in life. This first hand experience is invaluable to representing the public in any capacity, large or small. In addition I have previous, though limited, experience on advisory bodies by appointment.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have a now 12 yr old autistic son. Learning to navigate the variety of agencies and systems was a steep learning curve. I had worked in special education in a wide variety of settings for many years before my son was born so my experience with the disabled population is wide and varied.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

As I am a special education advocate, educational advocacy is my passion. However I have volunteered in many different environments and levels of disability advocacy so I have interest in participating more fully in all fields.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I served on the Area Board VII for 2 1/2 years until a move to a different area in the state necessitated my resignation. I thoroughly enjoyed my time on the Board and learned so much. There is so much to learn from so many interesting people that I would love the opportunity to work collaboratively again with like minded individuals.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My advocacy passion and experience is varied and well rounded. I founded a very successful parents advocacy group. I have served on the local CAC board, a SELPA autism program development committee, served as chair of ABVII, and have founded a successful special ed advocacy business that also helps families with Regional Center issues. I have attended hundreds of IEPs and IPPs. I believe myself to be open minded and willing and wanting to learn. I work well collaboratively in both small and large groups. I have a very good understanding of what it entails to handle confidential and personal information. I am dependable and timely. Thank you for your time and consideration.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I became involved caring for several family members with autism to dementia related neurological disorders several years ago. Since then I have been educated in the field of healthcare attaining a CNA, HHA, RCFE Administrator's License and currently work as an in-home respite provider/personal assistant for several families that have encouraged me to pursue this position in hopes that their interests could be represented.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interests in the field of developmental disability field and service system is diverse. Certainly I am encompassed on quality of care, safety, training, availability of services, implementation of services, needs of this community being addressed and being instrumental in identifying, developing and submitting viable solutions to address issues that are in need of alternative approaches to the benefit of the developmentally disabled community and their families.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

After years of personal experience, research, education and hearing first hand from the developmentally disabled community and their families, I have learned from so many what their challenges, frustrations, desires and ideas are regarding how the system could work more efficiently to address their needs.

All of my clients based on my empathetic understanding of their situations have encouraged me to pursue serving on State Council including one of my long term clients Jane Taylor whom presently serves on a RAC Committe

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My life is extensively encompassed around caregiving to include following current legislation, knowing the law, excellent verbal/written communication skills, excellent public speaking and organizational skills. Working well and effectively with others comprehending information are also skills I possess.

I have a desire to make a difference in improving on an ever evolving system in need of an advocate who will represent the needs of the community and possess the experience, education and determination to be an innovative asset to your organization.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

This is an issue which is close to my heart, as my youngest son, of 10 years old has down syndrome. I am also an educator of special needs students for over 15 years.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

To ensure there are adequate services and resources available for people with disabilities to have a full, complete and independent life as well as gainful employment, to the best of there abilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe people with disabilities should have a major role and be the decision makers to determine how the funds they receive are designated to support their needs in their day to day living activities.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My daughter was identified as being developmentally delayed at age 15 months and received early intervention services through Alta Regional and then transitioned to the public school system. She has been diagnosed with ADD, dyscalculia and dysgraphia - she has always been mainstreamed with support through the IEP process. At age 13-1/2 a second round of genetic testing revealed she has 22q11.2 Deletion Syndrome which has more long-term implications in terms of her education, independence and mental health. We are a new phase as she enters high school. Area Board 3 has provided support to our family in the past.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I feel it's important that parents and caregivers are informed about their rights and the rights of their children to receive public education and other services. Our family learned learned by happenstance and asking questions and I feel this information should be more readily available and available in a format that is understandable to those who are already grappling with the challenges of a special needs child/family member.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am the parent of a special needs child and family with the work of Area Board 3 and, just recently, an employed at a Family Resource Center. I believe it's important to empower parents/caregivers and those with disabilities who are able to advocate for themselves. I have the personal background and desire to improve the system for all.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am college educated with a background in professional journalism and am dedicated to learning anything I can that will help my own child be as independent and successful as possible.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the parent of a child with cerebral palsy. I have seen his accomplishments and supported him through failures. I have seen people with love, fierce hope and the purest of intention join in the fight to help him achieve his dreams and meet his goals, only to have them meet the obstacles of limited funding and inaccessibility. I have filtered through layers of discrimination applied to non-ambulatory individuals, individuals with limited cognitive function or individuals identified as "uncontrollable". In an effort to educate myself regarding the needs and level of services available to my son and others like him, I became an educational assistant in the local school district for the Special Education Program. I worked in this field for four years before accepting other responsibilities within the school district which allowed me to support students with disabilities in other areas. I continued my education and soon accepted a position as a social worker for child welfare services where I learned that the incidence of abuse reporting increased greatly if the child was identified as having a disability. Further effort to discover services and programs which may assist individuals with disabilities led me to accept social worker positions in the CalWORKs Program and with Adult Protective Services/In Home Supportive Services. I see definite progress in the direction California is heading and would be honored to share my insight and experience with the State Council on Developmental Disabilities.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Self-Determination Program, Employment First and post-secondary education opportunities for adults graduating high school.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to be part of the movement, part of the vision for California's future, a future that returns dignity and independence to individuals with disabilities. A vision that respects the rights of all people and renews faith in the ability to attain the ideal known as the "American Dream", a dream which espouses the idea that anyone can reach their goals with a little hard work and sacrifice. This dream remains out of reach for people who require additional assistance to simply meet their basic human needs, needs able-bodied individuals never have to consider, but with support and clear guidelines from our state government, these dreams can be realized.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I bring real life experience and a heartfelt wish to see all members of our state living a life of their own choice. I am deeply interested in creating opportunities for individuals and in creating a community of inclusion, where all members are seen as people, where disabilities become different abilities and all persons are accepted for who they are without reservation.

I earned a doctorate in education with the subject of my dissertation dealing with instructing students in assertive training in on-campus settings. More importantly however, I am the grandfather of a fine young man with autism.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Greatest interests for me involve integrated employment, education and community participation. I am especially interested in the evolving Self-Determination project. My interest as a professional focused upon respect for people with disabilities. To me the word "disability" is an instrument of disempowerment. I want to work in order to bring human respect to all people regardless of labels.

Councilmember redacted

And you will see first hand how I made a change and help others with developmental disabilities.

Today applicant serves as the Executive Vice President of DEL Records, the largest Latin American music label in the United States. He lives in West Covina, where he is active in many community causes.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

As a person with Autism I have always had a passion in making a change. I once grew up in the foster care system and was beaten as a child. Later I was adopted by my aunt who made me learn the importance of helping others and got me State resources I needed to be successful. I know many people need to be inform of our State resources and they don't know about our States resources so when I serve on this council it was always my goal to create impactful public awareness.

Please see my interview from time warner cable:

He is a longtime resident of West Covina, a successful businessman, community advocate, and former State Councilmember.

Coming from humble beginnings, he was raised by his aunt in West Covina. She taught him the importance of education and community service.

In High School, he saw how many of his peers did not have the resources for sports and extracurricular activities. No one, including the school administration, could help them. So he organized a fundraising effort, went walking to local businesses, and brought in money to help fund after-school activities. He continues this effort to this day and has raised over $100,000 for these programs.

During High School, he also worked to get school police equipped with radios and served on the West Covina Youth Council.

His aunt passed away when he turned 18, and he became fully independent. He started working for Pensy Motor Group and started working his way up in public service.

At age 22, He was appointed by Governor Jerry Brown to the California State Council on Developmental Disabilities, becoming the youngest appointee in state history. At a time when the Council was misusing funds, he was charged with the task of fixing a broken system, which he completed within a year.

He has been internationally recognized for his work on behalf of individuals with developmental disabilities. Working with charities like Autism Speaks, he has brought many Latino celebrities to the cause of awareness, including soccer star Cristiano Ronaldo and musician Joan Sebastian.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am interested in programs, housing and employment , plus recreation for our over 22 year olds.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have served on the Area 8 Board for the past several years. I have done so because of the state's providing services for my child. I believe in giving back when so much has been given. I also want to be informed so that I can be of aid to other parents in my county.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I bring strengths of leadership, people skills, open mindedness and eager to serve.

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I was born with a disability, and as I got older I got on several disability committees. I learned how to advocate myself and others who also have disabilities and have learned to live independently like myself. Others have also learned to speak up for themselves. I do workshops for different organizations for their disabilities.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I do workshops and advocate for others with disabilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have been on the area 8 board for several years. I do advocate for other clients.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

With the workshops that I do I leave time for clients who have questions. I do a lot of followups with the clients that have questions.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I work with people that have disabilities through In Home Support Systems. I have been around people with disabilities for years.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Because I am an IHSS provider, I provide services for people with disabilities so that they may stay in their own home and not have to live in medical facilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have been on the area 8 board for several years because I was going to the board meetings for several years before I was on the board. I learned a lot about people with disabilities and how they learn to advocate or get help with problems that they need help with.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My experience with all these boards and meetings help me to understand their needs.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My youngest daughter Makayla got the once in a lifetime opportunity in 2011 to light the CA State Christmas Tree. It was there that I was approached to become a Governor appointed member of the board. I had never heard of the Area 8 Board, but I was very excited for the opportunity! I joined the Board in 2012 and stayed until 2014 when it stopped meeting. The experience was phenomenal and I learned so much!

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am very interested in education and what services are available for those with Developmental Disabilities. My daughter is 10 and I still have so much to learn, but I also love to help others who are going through hard times and need help in figuring out what the next step would be to help their child.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am interested in serving on the RAC because I am excited to learn what is available out there for our kids. I have a lot to learn, but also a lot to offer other families in my community, that are at a loss of what to do for their child. We have gone through a lot with our daughter and sometimes had no idea of where to go for answers. I really want to learn as much as I can and be that person that others can go to for answers or be the one that can point them in the right direction of where to find answers. It is so important to know that there are people out there that can answer questions and help get the best care and education for their child!

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I believe that I bring a personal view point of a parent of a special needs child. The parents view is vital because it is a daily living and dealing with all the obstacles of having a child with developmental disabilities. The daily life is very different than the life the child has outside of the home and family. There is a sensitivity and understanding needed so that the child will be cared for appropriately. I am not afraid to voice my opinion in a respectful manner, but I am also very interested in hearing others opinions and ideas.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

It comes naturally. I was born into it, I have cerebral palsy. Through challenges of my own and of others who I have met, I realized that more could and should be done to simplify the systems upon which we rely.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

First and foremost, transportation and travel. Also, accessibility of public spaces and places, including hotels and housing.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to share my experience and knowledge regarding the challenges that face so many citizens in so many areas. The public transportation available to us is dismal. If I could help improve this one area, I would be very grateful.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have 21 years of experience in the travel and transportation business as owner of my own travel agency. I have excellent communication skills. I have knowledge of the practices and accommodations for people facing challenges in 25 countries and more than half of these United States. I know that California could be doing so much better.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been a foster parent to many children that have had varying developmental disabilities. I adopted two children that have presented with significant developmental disabilities. I now have experienced how important it is to increase both awareness and education about identifying these disabilities in children as soon as possible in order to provide the needed services.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I have a great interest in helping identify children with developmental disabilities as early as possible in order to match them with services that are in place to help them thrive.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am very committed to helping this segment of our population as much as possible. I believe the greater number of people available to be a voice for those in need help to implement services available in a successful way.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

As a parent I have direct experience in the challenges that those responsible for the well being of individuals with developmental disabilities go through. As a lay person the experience of working in the system to educate oneself about every aspect of the needs, processes and hurdles is a unique one most parents/caregivers.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been working in the field of Special Education since the late 70s (both here in CA, in WA, and in Morocco). I am presently a Program Manager (for SpED Division of San Diego Unified). As well, I was a foster parent serving special needs children for 17 years. AND, I am the parent of a daughter who receives services through SD Regional Center.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Now that my daughter is 23, and living in an adult care facility, I am finding myself more and more interested in the services available to persons AFTER they leave the public education system.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to put my passion and commitment to the betterment of the lives of people with Developmental Disabilities to work within our communities. I have a vast array of experiences both as a parent and as a professional and feel I can help make a positive difference.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

A deep knowledge of disabilities both professionally and how it impacts the lives of families; a knowledge of how different cultural groups accept (or don't) people with disabilities - having worked with families on the Colville Reservation, spending 6 years working as a birth-to-three teachers serving children and families who were migrant workers, living and working (in special education) in Morocco for 3 years, and being the parent of African-American (now adult) children and developing personal and professional connections within the African-American community here in San Diego. As well, I have personal skills to bring to "the table" - being the coordinator/lead of SDUSD's dispute resolution team.

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

As a person with a developmental disability, I have personally experienced my fair share of hurdles, and had to become a self-advocate to get what I need. I also encountered the issues that other people were having and I realized that I was much better off than many others. As a result, I was inspired to become an advocate for others where I can use my experiences and knowledge to better some of the challenges that people with developmental disabilities face.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

The primary interests I have in this field and service system are: Improved Transportation Network for people with developmental disabilities, Improved funding for day programs so that clients receive more individual attention from resource counselors; and Improved funding for new programs that better the lives of individuals with developmental disabilities.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have a son with Autism. I have served on Area Board XIII since July of 2010. I am the acting director of Parents Advocating Together, a 501 (c) (3) , which supports parents with training and peer to peer support in attending IEPs an IPPs. We are all volunteers and parents are not charged for services. PAT is strictly supported by private donations. I also have run a Parent support group, every second Wednesday of the month to support the current needs of our local community since 2010. We invite professionals to work directly with the parents or the consumers that attend our group at no cost.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interest in the field of developmental disability is ensuring that parents and consumers have their choices in employment, and living situations. I believe in inclusion, and have started a inclusion program at the stable which allows the child or the consumer to ride with others at the ranch without the label of therapeutic. I believe in inviting the community to support us, in breaking down barriers and to embrace the natural supports that we are blessed to have in such a large community here in San Diego. In summary my intrust are: Transition, Employment, Self-Determination, Person Centered Planing, Inclusion and housing and supports to support the consumers needs, especially the ones with behaviors.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee so I can continue to be a voice for the parents and the consumers in our community. My strengths are in building relationships and teams. I believe that I my experiences as a parent of a child with Autism and that of an Advocate will benefit the Regional Advisory Committee.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

My strengths are in people building. I am known in the many school districts as a fair advocate who is child focused and works on building a team to support the child's needs. Another one of my strengths is teaching and educating people and inviting people to assist. I am not shy about sharing my journey with others and I am not afraid of lending a hand in helping others navigate through their own experiences. My goal is to empower them to ensure that their goals and that of their child is met.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My mother has always inspired me to advocate for myself and others with developmental disabilities whose voices are not being heard.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My area of interest is that employment opportunities could be increased for the developmentally disabled community. Another interest would be to increase support and attention for adults with developmental disabilities to meet their goals. My goal is to someday be employed in a "normal job", that pays at least minimum wage and not have to depend on Social Security.

OLD APPLICATION QUESTIONS

Are you a member of any parent groups, self-advocacy groups, service clubs or professional organizations?

No currently, but we started a parent group 20+ years ago when we lived in Lancaster, CA

I have knowledge of the following disabilities:

Autism, Cerebral Palsy, Down Syndrome, Intellectual Disabilities and Learning Disabilities.

Why do you want to serve as a Committee Member?

My wife and I funded a discovery grant for positive psychology research at the Vanderbilt Kennedy Center in 2010-11 in memory of our son who had an intellectual disability but in 2006 died in an auto accident at age 23. While enduring the horrible grief and loss, which lingers still, we senses that his life experience, and ours with him, seemed in sharp contrast to the generally negative view of intellectual disability that is still so prevalent in societies around the world today.

The discovery grant was used to support two innovated pilot studies: a SENSE Theatre Summer Camp to assess the effectiveness of theatre as a social-emotional treatment for children with autism and a study to learn about the strengths, supports, spirituality, and well-being of young people (ages 13-21) with intellectual and developmental disabilities, as well as to understand the various factors that contribute to thriving among these young people and their families. The results of both studies provided the foundation for significant follow-on funding for expanded applied research in these areas.

Our son was described by others as a bright light, always upbeat. As an extrovert, his cheerful nature was a positive influence on others, and in turn, he was stimulated by their positive feedback. He was physically able and wanted to be out observing the world and meeting people. He was curious and would readily engage¹⁶⁶ people in conversation, asking questions about them, like an interview. Observation and connecting with people were his primary methods of learning about his environment, the people in it and how to relate to both. He was also playful and took any opportunity he saw in conversation to entertain and be entertained with humor. These were some of his strengths and these experiences seemed to give him a real sense of belonging and a sense of well-being. Perhaps his intellectual disability made it easier to live in the moment, enjoying his connections. Constantly engaging our son from day one, including him in every activity possible, and taking him to almost every place we went also helped shape his personality and develop his ability to relate to others.

Along with seeing that services and opportunities for people with developmental disabilities are provided and that individuals and families are well informed of these, I believe that identifying and developing each individual's strengths, starting as early as possible, will increase their current and future inclusion opportunities. The following statement by Erik Carter, PhD, Principle Investigator at Vanderbilt on the strengths study says this clearly. "The gifts, talents, and positive traits of young people with IDD are plentiful and recognized by those who are deeply involved in their lives, but so easily overlooked by others (and virtually ignored in the professional literature). I'm convinced that connections to community and relationships don't (indeed can't) happen on the basis of deficits, but on the basis of the strengths, contributions, and connections to be shared."

As member of the Regional Advisory Committee, I would learn more about the vast array of services available for individuals and their families and how best to ensure they are provided. I am also interested in learning how we can identify, develop, and promote the strengths and the connections of those with developmental disabilities, with the expectation that a sense of belonging and a sense of well-being are possible for all.

List top issues that you feel the developmental services system is currently facing or that need improvement?

I would say that preparing for an aging population of people is an issue, especially for those living with parents or older relatives but also in terms of providing quality support and care, generally.

The employment rate for people with developmental disabilities, especially for those with moderate to severe intellectual disabilities, is still a significant problem that requires renewed efforts to solve.

I imagine that new initiatives such as the Employment First Law and the Self-Determination option are also issues.

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am a Self Advocate with a developmental disability, Who is tired of being treated unfairly and unjustly. My mom informed me about a possible position on the Regional Advisory Committee, I thought it would be a great opportunity to advocate for myself and others with disabilities.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am interested in learning how issues and laws are being dealt with on the State Council.

I would also like to know if our voices are being heard and if any action for change is being made.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I wish to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee to better inform myself. By serving on the Regional Advisory Committee, I will be able to actively advocate in my community, and inform others with disabilities that require supports and services.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

The Regional Advisory Committee can benefit from my ability to speak up and ensure others to stand up for themselves and those around them. I have personal experience with the issue of having a disability.

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I suppose you could say that my interest and knowledge began while I was employed by the State of Oregon as a Vocational Rehabilitation Counselor. Then I had my own son with developmental challenges. Within weeks I was thrown into a system that 34 years ago was not prepared to meet his needs. I have been fighting for him to have a good life ever since.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Housing is a huge need. Parents age and Developmental Centers are going to change. As our children move into adulthood, they must have humane and just care in the community. That will never happen without appropriate housing.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I have both professional and personal experiences in traveling the road needed to provide good, broad-based care and support.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I have formed my own parent-run Supported Living Agency and now gotten non-profit status for it.

Over the years I have successfully dealt with schools, hospitals, doctors, therapists, the Regional Center, supporting agencies such as CalFresh and In-Home Support, and more to have my son in the community living as independently as possible. I have created success within the system that many do not understand.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My adult daughter is severely disabled. We have received considerable services through the offices of the Marin and Sonoma Offices of Education, Golden Gate and North Bay Regional Centers and other agencies serving the disabled. I saw that these services were not equally distributed and there were many disabled individuals and their families who were not receiving the services they were entitled to.

In this light, I joined the Area Board 4 in 2009 and have served as a member, and as Chair, of that body until it was dissolved at the end of 2014.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Expanding services to underserved communities, protecting the rights of individuals and their families and advocacy.

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the mother of three boys. My middle son was diagnosed with autism when he was 3 years old and ever since, I have dedicated my time and energy in learning how to best provide for his needs. I have extensive experience in working with school districts, with the regional center system as well as some limited time dealing with insurance. My son is now 12 and has made much progress in his development.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I specifically focus on serving children and school aged children with autism, Aspergers. I also have some experience with learning disabilities and speech and language disorders.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am at a point in my life where my children are now older and my time is much more flexible. I am passionate about helping families who have children with developmental disabilities, specifically autism spectrum disorder. Instead of taking on full time work, I am looking for a way to enrich my community and give back while still maintaining flexibility to care for my family.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am very experienced in the array of services needed to meet the needs of those in my community with ASD. I speak with parents and know what goes on in day to day happenings, yet stay very involved in legislative and legal developments that impact them as well. I am articulate and passionate and would bring a balanced and experienced view to the committee.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My knowledge and interest developed when I was 14 years old and had two siblings with developmental needs. I served as the primary care giver while my mother was at work. I also served in many meetings to translate for my mother who did not speak english. I became very passionate and started advocating for people in the community didn't feel that they had the voice to do so. In addition, I started working with Early Learning Institute as an Early Intervention Specialist and felt in love with serving under-represented populations including those with developmental needs. Currently, my two year old has developmental needs. He is in the autism spectrum.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My interest is working with children and parents that do not know how to navigate the system well.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe that I can make a difference because I am very passionate in providing services to those in needs. I also feel that I have the personal and cultural experience to advocate for representatives from underrepresented populations that struggle with advocacy with their developmental needs. I am also a mother of a child, a sister and an aunt to family members that have developmental needs. I can be their voice! I am also a Social Worker and have MFT, which provides me with the experience and background to know how to advocate for my community.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am passionate for advocating for those in needs. I have a personal and professional interest in this area. I am bilingual and bicultural. I know about most services and resouces. I am connected to my community and know what the needs are.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I was born with down syndrome and am part of the community with people with disabilities. I currently use some of the services provided.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Being born with a disability I don't think there's an area of interest which I'm not interested in. I want to promote awareness, education and acceptance in society now and for future generations.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I want to be in the role of government as an advocate for people with disabilities. It started back when I was a young teenager then when I was a late teen I was asked by Easter Seals if I was interested in being an Ambassador which I did for two years. I was also nominated for National Ambassador. I didn't receive the nomination but I realized that representing and speaking on behalf of people with disabilities would become my lifelong dream. I've also battled leukemia after graduating high school and will be officially cured this October of 2015 for 5 years.. I don't think anything can stop me from my dream of representing people with disabilities and this October will prove it.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I not only would bring my passion and voice for people of disabilities but also my energy. I'm a team player who has great stage presence and loves public speaking. In my family we have several generations of lawyers and I've known since I was a young teen I was meant to be in government.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I've been mom to my beautiful, quirky, brilliant and challenging autistic daughter for 25 years. Always involved, always learning, always humbled.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Autism services and keeping up with the needs, social, educational, vocational and aging for persons on the spectrum. Helping to influence the enactment of meaningful legislation that might truly benefit those on the spectrum and the people who work with them and love them. Help looking to the future and evaluating the past.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe I have a lot to offer both as a parent and as someone who has been a student of autism since my daughter was born 25 years ago. I am in awe of the wonderful people in this field and believe that I can be of help in articulating ideas and proposals in moving forward with legislation and cutting through the red tape to evaluate what can and does work.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am smart, a good listener, dependable, fun, hard worker, I have worked collaboratively on school boards, theatre companies, as a band leader, teacher of music and workshop leader. I am a team player and have been to numerous autism conferences, read many books, have written successful proposals and have worked closely with North Bay Regional Center successfully on behalf of my daughter. I am a good networker and have brought people together for symposiums and workshops. I've been helpful to parents needing assistance over the years. I like to communicate about autism. I enjoy attempting to make a difference for the better.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have worked in the field of developmental services for over forty years. I started volunteering at a program for children when I was 14. Got my doctorate in Neurosciences in Boulder in 1978 and my Ph.D. in Psychology from Berkeley in 1992. I have worked in different aspects of the field this entire time from residential treatment programs to the region resource development program at Sonoma State. I adopted my first boy diagnosed with Autism when he was five. He is now 33. My other two sons are also diagnosed as having Autism as well.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Areas that I feel as though I know fairly well -

Autism

Language disorders

Developmental neurological disorders

My interest has been in -

Research, diagnosis, treatment, behavioral instruction, education and enhanced day treatment.

I am trying to learn more about Long term care, special needs trusts, supported-living programs.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

This is not a vocation for me but an avocation as well. I feel strongly that we must do more to help people labeled with "disabilities" to have a greater opportunity in life in all ways. I am very happy to see my sons grow and learn skills that allow them to be more social, interactive, accepted and in turn they benefit from having a fuller richer life. I think I might be able to help give input if possible to enhance opportunities state-wide for many others.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Thirty three years as a parent of three sons diagnosed with Autism. Forty plus years in the field working with people diagnosed with Autism and Asperger's and similar disorders in schools, day treatment, residential settings. I think I have a good knowledge of both the professional side of things as well as what a parent goes through. I hope that I might be of assistance in some meaningful way if possible. Thank-you!

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I have been privileged with having a younger brother with a developmental disability that I am a conservator for. Growing up, I was very much involved in his educational meetings (IEP's) and residential placements. Because of my brother's needs and the experiences I had, I chose to gain more experience within the field of special education. This led me into working towards gaining degrees in education and working for nonpublic schools for the last 18 years.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Areas of interest that I have would consist of housing/residential options, vocational programs/day program options and readiness, behavioral supports, parent/care-provider supports and trainings and educational needs.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

In working in the field that serves individuals with developmental disabilities as well as being a conservator and advocate for my brother, I have seen gaps in our systems that can hinder equal access for individuals. I do believe that we have made huge progress in addressing areas of needs, however, there is much more we as a community can identify and make recommendation for positive change.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am passionate about being a voice for individuals with developmental disabilities and working with families who are seeking that support and information. I have fist hand knowledge in special education and the laws that protect our students/families. I have strong communication skills and have 18 years of experience in supervising and working with families and educators in the special education field.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

Well, I have asperger's syndrome and really I do want to make other's lives better. Over 10 years ago I was diagnosed with Autism. I read several copies of The Autism File magazine as well as an online member of Autism Speaks. As a daughter to a retired elementary School teacher I'd like to see our girls with aspbgers syndrome succeed in school. This means more support systems for women who wish to find a place their own with some assistance. This is the situation that I find myself in. I toured group homes, but I realized that some of them aren't a good fit for everyone. In my case, I preferred the privacy of an individual Community Placement through Aldea's Supportive living services. Also I realized that privacy is very important.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My area is education for female students with Autism succeed in the public school system. As well as a foreign curriculum that's designed with the learning disabled in mind, that way this generation will get the forieng language as well as outreach to those are living at home with one or both parents. This can put the burden on their families. More of an effort to get those people into a situation where they'll be asked to be treated more like adults.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

The education I received as a young lady made a real difference. As a female member of the Autistim Community and as a client of the Regional Center made a huge impact on me. Not only that, but my family helped me find a sutibel place to live. More of an effort needs to be made to transition the more severe cases where the person is concerved by one or both parents. In my case, Aldea has really stepped up to the plate, even though my parents live in different cities.(they broke up a very long time a go.) I know my rights as person. This knowledge will be put to good use.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I'd bring some compassion , common sense, as well as language capacity. With this comes dignity and respect for those who have already served. Also, I have prior experience, and don't legislate from the chair or the bench. Well, with that in mind, I can really use the above to describe my charter traits. Also, I'd bring some class to the table.

I am a: person with a developmental disability, parent, family member, legal guardian or conservator of a person with a developmental disability

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

Because I am a person with a developmental disability and I wanted to learn more because I couldn't get any help for me, my daughter, and my husband.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Since I have a home, the most important thing is advocating for other people to be able to live where they want to live. Also I have a daughter and I want to help people know what services and how to get services for their kids instead of people telling parents no, no, no...they don't have anything.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Because it will help me get a voice. I came to the point of speaking out more.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I know how to talk. I know how to speak and understand on behalf of other disabled people. I can share my experiences and spread the knowledge I have.

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

No

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State Council

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

First I would like to say I am living with Cerebral Palsy. As a child living with this disability I learned the importance of having a voice. I knew I wanted to control my life and set goals for myself when others didn't believe that I could achieve them. As a young adult I gained my conservator-ship over myself. As I got older I moved out on my own into my own home. This is when I realized the importance of resources and opportunities for myself and my peers. I underwent many struggles of trying to gain my independence and find work. I also, wanted be an active member of my community. As an older adult I interviewed for a position at my agency for an Employer Advocate. Since being hired I have worked hard to inform and keep others with disabilities informed about policies, legislation that would affect our lives. Along with encouraging others to let their voices be heard when it came to policies and changes to our lives. I am now not only a Employer Advocate for my agency. I am also a council member for the Sacramento County Developmental Disability Planning and Advisory Committee. I attend all hearings at the Sacramento State Capital and other advocacy groups. I am always looking more way to help better serve those with disabilities whether they are a child or an adult.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

As a person living with Cerebral Palsy, I am interested in many fields that have a direct impact on my life. I have high service needs so care-giving and in-home support services are a must. I also, am passionate about education and work opportunities for people with disabilities. I also, have recently did some work on housing for those with development disabilities. Another field I am interest in is providing resources needed for one's own independence including transportation, healthcare, financial stability and many more.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I believe with my experience, hard working and determined attitude. I would be an asset to the State Council on Development Disabilities Council or Regional Advisory Committees. I hold the values of equality and equal opportunity for all despite having a disability. I also, know first hand what it is like to live with a disability and all the struggles that come with one trying to navigate through life. This would be the perfect opportunity for me to get involved at professional level with my community and really make an impact. That is why I believe I would be a excellent candidate for the State Council on Development Disabilities or the Regional Advisory Committees.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am living with Cerebral Palsy. I can identify not only with people who have a severe disability but with those who do not. I am fearless when it comes to standing up for people or children with a disability. I have the ability to communicate effectively to officials or my peers. To help them understand their rights or how things affect them. I am independent and hardworking along with a happy attitude. I have a first hand look with my community because I am apart of it. I think it is always a strength to have someone like myself with a disability living and working in the community. That can show and inspire others to do better or the same.

When I first got started I worked with the Dept. of Rehab and went through a supported employment agency. They lead me to a variety of different groups and I was a member of the Disability Advisory Committee for Yolo County.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I am interested in the rights for people with I/DD, I have knowledge of supported employment for people with I/DD, and recreation options.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I feel that with my prior experience in many areas I bring a lot of strengths in different areas. I serviced as President of Yolo County People's First. I was a board member for 6 years for Vocational Training and Employment. After being employed with the State, I attended the State Governor's committee on employing people with disabilities at the Capitol. I served as a safety officer and would inspect different work sites where people with I/DD worked. We would do evaluations and submitted them to CARF.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Expertise in the above mentioned areas. I am willing and able to attend meetings. I was a union activist. I like to speak up for the rights of people with developmental disabilities. I wouldn't have achieved all this without being a member of Yolo County People's First and learning to speak up for myself and others.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

Since 1977 I have been an advocate for my daughter who has a dual diagnosis (developmental and psychiatric.) Beginning with her preschool experience when her instructor noticed her withdrawn manner and other behaviors, I have explored and found appropriate settings for her to thrive in educational environments both public and private. As a result of the evaluation suggested by her preschool teacher, my daughter was instructed in very small classroom settings (4-5 students) where she received individual attention throughout much of her elementary school years. By middle school, at least one psychologist thought she had a Pervasiye Developmental Disorder. Later other testing revealed severe emotional disturbance as well. The services and supports that she received in special classes ended when she graduated from high school.

Obtaining any kind of service for her became much more difficult for me.

With disability services support and my assistance, she enrolled in non-academic courses at community colleges (theater and dance.) She began living independently in 1994 in housing with natural supports including counseling. It was not enough. She had difficulty handling everyday social interactions and tended to isolate herself. With my assistance, she applied for Regional Center services in 1997 but her application was denied. Not long after, she received a formal psychiatric diagnosis that allowed her to receive some services, but nothing to address her developmental disability. Increasingly she depended on me for independently living skills training, case management, and socialization skills training. It became too much for me. Once again we applied for regional center services.

With a diagnosis of Autistic Disorder from her psychiatrist, a comprehensive psychological evaluation outlining the severity and complexity of her condition, my narratives about her from early childhood to the present, and school test results, she became a client of Alta California Regional Center in November 2012. Since then she has received independent living skills training that has greatly expanded her ability to manage her household successfully in her own apartment. Currently she, her ILS trainer, her therapist, and I are discussing opportunities for her to become comfortable in a variety of social settings. This is an area that requires more attention in order for her to acquire ease in her social interactions. I continue to explore more opportunities that will give her the ability to live her life to the greatest extent possible.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Because my daughter's needs require more innovative approaches to support the complexity of her disabilities, I am extremely interested in the success of the Self Determination Program. Because the approach is person-centered, self determination has the potential of better serving my daughter's needs as well as other consumers who require more flexibility and creativity in their service delivery. Of equal concern for me is quality of service, whether in the Self Determination Program or regular Regional Center services. Without high quality service that includes good communication, monitoring, and accountability, even the most innovative individualized services will not help ensure the desired result of a fulfilled, productive, and stable life for every consumer.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Since October 2013, as a parent and community member, I have regularly attended Sacramento Regional Advisory Committee meetings (formerly Area Board 3) where I have listened, participated in discussions when appropriate, and learned a great deal about the developmental/intellectual disability service delivery system from committee members and staff. The experience has been invaluable.

Also I have had the opportunity to interact meaningfully with consumers, family members, and other SCDD committee members and staff to hear about broader issues that affect consumers and family members at the local level. All of these opportunities have reinforced my passion as an advocate not only for my daughter but also for other consumers in the developmental/intellectual service delivery system. As a member of the Sacramento Regional Advisory Committee I would use my passion to help achieve the mission and goals of the State Council on Developmental Disabilities at the local level.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

With my strong organizational skills, my work and volunteer experiences have complemented my advocacy in the developmental disability field. I have experience in public outreach in the affordable housing movement, and a background in public affairs at the local, state, and national level. I have interacted successfully with policymakers and local constituencies for the public benefit. My success as a worker and a volunteer has depended on my ability to be a team member, but also a leader when appropriate. Through the simple act of talking with all kinds of people, I have learned and imparted so much. These are some of the qualities that I would bring to the Sacramento Regional Advisory Committee.

Are you currently employed by, or a member of the governing board of an organization providing services to persons with developmental disabilities?"

Yes

Do you want to serve on the State Council and/or a regional advisory committee?

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

When I was in college I did volunteer work for the Recreation Center for the Handicap in San Francisco, that is where my interest first began. After working in the private sector for a number of years, I went back to school and received my teaching credential in special education (mod/severe). During that time, my son was diagnosed with Autism. For the past 13 years I have been a special education teacher in Yolo County, first with the office of education and currently with Winters JUSD.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Now that my son is transitioning to an adult program from high school, I have become more aware and interested in services and programs for adults with developmental disabilities. Including living situations, education, recreation and social skills development. As a parent, it's my duty to find the best opportunities for him. As a teacher it's my duty to find the best opportunities for my students. So I need to educate myself on what is ahead for my child and students so I can advocate for them

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

My children are just graduating from high school and I will have more time to devote to volunteer work outside of school and home. I want to stay involved by being a part of something that supports the students I teach but is outside of the classroom. I had thought about becoming an advocate, then this flyer showed up and it seemed to fit what I was looking for.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

Being a parent and an educator, I bring an unique perspective. I know the struggles of having a child with special needs not only from personal experience but from that of my student's families. I can relate to the challenges, the fears, the advocating and the joys from two points of view. I am also an advocate of teaching our children the skills they need to be as independent and self sufficient as they can possibly be.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My awareness of the developmental disability field began with my son's diagnosis of autism at age 3 1/2. He is now 33 years old, so we have had many years of experience with the system. We also have received services through 2 regional centers (Orange County and Alta) and in 4 counties (Orange, Sacramento, El Dorado & Yolo).

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Greater emphasis on treating persons with developmental disabilities with respect for their individual needs and strengths. Elimination of the use of the term retardation at all levels. Development of an occupational life skill program that provides a process for adults with developmental disabilities similar to the successful OLS program at Bellevue College in Washington.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Ideally, to bring about change. Our experience with various service providers demonstrates the profound need to expand the general view and characterization of people with developmental disabilities. It is not and should not be a one size fits all approach. It is not only possible, but should be mandatory to provide an approach to services and supports that recognizes the needs and strengths of the person receiving services. Like many families and professionals in California we have seen first hand the benefit of the Social Thinking program developed by Michelle Garcia Winner. I would like to see more flexibility and emphasis on funding programs that work rather than funding bloated bureaucratic organizations that have no practical benefit to the person receiving services.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

A strong desire to advocate and bring about a forward thinking approach that honors and respects those served as individuals with developmental disabilities.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

At 18 years-old, I began working with Children that have autism as an in-home therapist. I fell in love with the children and watching them learn and grow, teaching and supporting their parents, and helping to bridge the gap between home and school services and goals.

Over the last 12 years, I have worked with individuals with various developmental disabilities, and I am passionate about helping them to lives with as much independence and happiness as possible.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

My areas of interest in the field of developmental disabilities ranges from advocating individual rights in the community, educational rights in the school setting, increasing their independence with social, communication, and functional skills, parent training on decreasing problem behaviors and increasing deficits, and helping others be aware of the community resources available in the area.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I would like to be involved with the State Council and Regional Advisory committees to help advocate for those with Developmental Disabilities, and promote a high quality of life by ensuring they receive access to fair and equal opportunities that the general population has access to. I look forward to working with others as a team to inspire new ideas and problem-solve areas of concern. At the very least, I look to help support this community that I am so passionate about.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

On a personal level, I am a positive, caring and honest individual that wants to help others. I can work independently, as well as cohesively when on a team.

On a professional level, I am able to communicate effectively in written and oral formats, and am comfortable speaking to large groups. I have a solid educational background in the field, with a BS in Psychology, an MA in Teaching, and I am a Board Certified Behavior Analyst.

I have worked with over 7 local school districts and with both Alta and North Bay Regional centers, attending IEP, IPP/IFSP meetings to collaborate on appropriate goals for individuals with disabilities, and am aware of local resources in the greater Sacramento area.

Lastly, I have a flexible personality that can easily adapt to different tasks. I enjoy working with others and meeting new people who share a common goal of helping others.

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the State CouncilYes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My son started having seizures at 5 months of age. He is now 8 years old and in the special education program at Sacramento Unified School District. He is in a good place now, but I worry about what his quality of life will be in the future and how he can have a fulfilling life despite his disability. I want him and all people with disabilities to have an opportunity to make a difference in the world and make a real contribution.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

Education and awareness. It is time for this country to accept all types of people. We have made great progress in accepting Gay marriage and transgender. I think America is ready to stop discriminating against developmentally disabled persons. They need to be recognized as citizens and integrated into our overall society.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am a strong advocate for people's rights. I believe people will rise up to the expectations that are given to them. If we empower the developmentally disabled community, we will see great things from them. I want to educate the 99% of people that don't have a disability and inspire the 1% that do. We need to integrate these people into our overall society, not create separate programs that shut them out.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am very organized and natural born leader. I am passionate about the cause. I have a long history of success in my professional life and I'm fortunate that my husband is able to support our family so that I can help our community in other ways. I would love the opportunity to use my skills and talents to have an impact on a larger scale in our community and beyond.

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

I am the conservator and brother of an individual with special needs and I have been active in the community on various issues throughout my life. My community involvement paired with my experiences growing up and providing for an individual with developmental disabilities has driven my passion in the field.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I have a broad interest in the issues at large, however the majority of my passion and advocacy is directed toward the expansion of limited resources and protecting those resources currently available. I am a also a proponent of increased transparency, efficiency and responsiveness within agencies.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

Yes, I want to apply to serve on the Regional Advisory Committee

How did your interest in, or knowledge of, the developmental disability field and service system develop?

My daughter was identified as being developmentally delayed at age 15 months and received early intervention services through Alta Regional and then transitioned to the public school system. She has been diagnosed with ADD, dyscalculia and dysgraphia - she has always been mainstreamed with support through the IEP process. At age 13-1/2 a second round of genetic testing revealed she has 22q11.2 Deletion Syndrome which has more long-term implications in terms of her education, independence and mental health. We are a new phase as she enters high school. Area Board 3 has provided support to our family in the past.

What are your areas of interest in the developmental disability field and service system?

I feel it's important that parents and caregivers are informed about their rights and the rights of their children to receive public education and other services. Our family learned by happenstance and asking questions and I feel this information should be more readily available and available in a format that is understandable to those who are already grappling with the challenges of a special needs child/family member.

Please explain why you wish to serve on the State Council on Developmental Disabilities, or on one of its Regional Advisory Committees:

I am the parent of a special needs child and family with the work of Area Board 3 and, just recently, an employed at a Family Resource Center. I believe it's important to empower parents/caregivers and those with disabilities who are able to advocate for themselves. I have the personal background and desire to improve the system for all.

What strengths would you bring to the State Council and/or Regional Advisory Committee?

I am college educated with a background in professional journalism and am dedicated to learning anything I can that will help my own child be as independent and successful as possible.
